Well I've always been a kind of wandering spirit
So it's been two years since I left Tennessee
I fell in and out of love when I got near it
Thought a life out on the road would set me free

Was it on a Texas highway slowly walkin'?
Or maybe in an empty Austin bar?
where I thought I heard your sweet voice softly talkin'
Saying all the roads lead back to where you are

Cleveland left me cold and lonely
Carolina could not hold me
L.A. was never meant to be Lost out in Colorado
So I cast a Knoxville shadow
Tennessee brought you back to me

With all the miles and states between us
I search and search but never find
Well it took a thousand turns for me to see
What I crave is in the place I left behind

Now I'm rollin' North to Waco East to Nashville
Only now not here to stay, just passin' through
To the Smoky Mountain foothills down to Knoxville
And a life that's off the road and next to you
