

Lifetime Love (Matt Watroba & Anne Hills) © 2010

Far, far too long
I have stood at your gate
Gazing out, as I wait
To where we walked, side by side

Wake, Darling wake
To the sound of the birds
Stir from sleep by my words
As I call you to me

How I long for sunrise
Shining bright in your eyes
Not inside a lifetime love like mine

There, on the hill
Where I asked for your hand
Kneeling down on the sand
Where you laughed, where you cried

How I long for sunrise
Shining bright in your eyes
Not inside a lifetime love like mine

Slowly she rose
And she opened the door
Her bare feet on the floor
Took her love in her arms

We stood in the sunrise
Shining bright in our eyes
Now inside a lifetime love like mine
